

WITH + MATH = I CAN

Dear Teachers,

Have you seen the “With Math I Can...” video? “With Math I Can...” is a movement dedicated to changing society’s approach and attitude towards math so all students can reach their full potential. I wanted to make sure you are aware of this important program and share how you and your students can be involved.

Here is a short description about the program:

“Have you ever heard someone say, “I’m not good at math,” or “I’m just not a math person?” Maybe you have said these words yourself? With Math I Can is a campaign designed to combat the damaging idea in our society that, “Some people just aren’t math people” by reframing math attitudes using growth mindset research and by focusing on all the things kids can do with math.

You can join the movement in these four steps:

- Watch the video with your child at www.withmathican.org
- Take the pledge and introduce growth mindset to support students’ math attitudes
- Visit the resources page and get started implemented growth mindset in your classroom
- Share the movement with other teachers and families

I hope that we all can join this important movement to ensure our students reach their full potential in math!

All the best,
