APPLICATION GUIDE

ABOUT SAI:

SAI (Superior Auto Institute) was founded in 1992 to provide exceptional PDR service and training. We also manufactured PDR tools for our own techs since tools were not readily available then. After a few years we began offering our tools to the general public via eBay and other online sites and soon built a brand that is widely recognized around the world.

Our tools are one of just a few brands used by professionals in the industry. Although there are now many tool manufacturers, few make tools for technicians who understand what is needed for modern day vehicles and since we all at SAI are skilled PDR techs, we only sell what we use.

Applications

PDR Tools come in several tip types:

Soft or blunt tips- for soft or shallow dents

Rat or bullet tips: For general purpose dents

Blade or knife tips: For sharp or deep dents (creases/bodylines etc)

Pencil tips: For NEVER to be used. SAI doesn't make these and suggests to never use

Brace wires: for braced/tightly constricted areas (top of doors, front area of hoods, etc

Hand tools: for close proximity dents

Whale tail tools: For dents in tightly constricted areas where no other tool will reach (side impact beams, some hood/trunk/roof areas) etc.

SAI practices safe PDR. Never work a tool towards your face, always wear eye protection and never work near airbags.
