

Norton Return and Cancellation Policies

What is the Norton cancellation and return policy?

- If you are not satisfied with your Norton purchase, please let us know! Our return policy may include a refund, but some restrictions apply, so please review the terms below. Our policy is independent of any statutory rights that you may have under the law.
- Shipping, handling, and any applicable tax are not refundable, except in certain states and countries where these items are refundable.
- If you return your Norton offering and/or receive a refund, you agree to uninstall and delete all copies of the software from your device(s). Also, the license may, in our sole discretion, be disabled to prevent further use.
- Please note that your cancellation, return and refund eligibility may differ when purchased from or billed through a third party (e.g. service provider, reseller, retailer, vendor, etc.).

Don't hesitate to contact Norton Support for assistance, it is the fastest way to request cancellation and refund.

Canceling your subscription

- You may cancel your subscription at any time by signing in to My Norton and turning OFF the Automatic Renewal setting, or by contacting Norton Support.
- If you cancel your subscription, note that your cancellation request should be made a couple of days before your renewal billing date for the cancellation to be processed and to avoid Automatic Renewal charges.
- Keep in mind if you cancel, the subscription will not automatically renew. However, your protection will continue for the remaining days in your existing (already paid for) subscription term. You may also be eligible for a refund in accordance with our refund policy below.
- Norton and/or LifeLock subscription bundles:
 - If you purchased a bundle (i.e. a package of more than one subscription), you may cancel from one or the entire package of subscriptions that make a bundle at any time.
 - If you cancel from one portion of the bundle only - your other existing subscription(s) may remain and your applicable annual or monthly renewal price will be affected. Review your existing subscription and renewal prices here or call Norton Support if such link is unavailable for your country.
 - If you cancel the entire package of subscriptions that make a bundle, your protection will continue for the remaining days in your existing (already paid for) subscription term but will not automatically renew for the next term.
 - You may also be eligible for a refund in accordance with our Refunds section below.

Except in Japan, if you purchased your subscription through our retail channel and acquired Virus Protection Promise through turning ON the Automatic Renewal setting for that subscription, you will lose the benefit of Virus Protection Promise upon cancellation of your subscription.
