

ALZO 9" & 10" LAMP HARP INSTALLATION

Most table and floor lamps require a harp change to accommodate the larger ALZO Full Spectrum light bulbs. Follow these simple directions for the harp change.

STEP 1

Unplug lamp. Remove lamp shade by unscrewing the top.

Note the wire harp shade holder is held in place by 2 collar stays

STEP 2

Lift collar stays at the base of the old harp.

A rubber band on the harp helps keep collar stays up

STEP 3

Squeeze in harp sides near base to remove old harp.

Move the rubber band to the new harp to hold up collar stays.

STEP 4

Squeeze new harp sides and install new harp

OPTIONAL

Some old harp bases require pliers to press the harp into the base.

FINAL STEP

Remove rubber band, install energy saving bulb and lamp shade.

See matching ALZO CFL Full Spectrum light bulbs on back

CUSTOMER REVIEWS

ALZO Full Spectrum CFL Light Bulbs

For the 9" Harp: 	The ALZO 27W CFL bulb fits the 9" harp. single bulb (see Amazon ASIN B0018OQ7RM) pack of 4 (see Amazon ASIN B0018OS06S). And who's the whitest of them all ? I have been using the softwhite lights which give a yellow tinge to the home and I realized what I have been missing once I switched to the ALZO bulbs. As soon as I screwed these bulbs into lamps, bright white light filled the room. You can look at the bulbs directly and they don't hurt. Plus, the light doesn't have any bluish tinge as expected for higher temperature bulbs (6500K). I compared the light intensity to the previous softwhite CFLs (of equal wattage) and these Alzo's clearly are the winner. The bulbs are a little too big to fit into the ceiling fixtures, but I will be looking out for smaller sized ALZOs for them. Excellent bulbs. I like them already! Occam's Razor, Amazon customer
For the 10" Harp: 	The ALZO 45W CFL bulb fits the 10" harp single bulb (see Amazon ASIN B00198SWJI) pack of 4 (see Amazon ASIN B00198U6U6). Absolutely fantastic! I needed more light in my living room but didn't want to add another lamp. So I decided to buy these ALZO bulbs to replace my previous 32W and 26W bulbs. I was simply startled by the bright white light of these full-spectrum bulbs. Until now, I never realized just how "yellow" my previous bulbs were. I now find it much easier to read and concentrate. I would absolutely buy these bulbs again. njw36, Amazon customer

ALZO CFL Full Spectrum light bulbs are energy-saving, spiral-shaped bulbs with a 5500K daylight-balanced color temperature. These bulbs are ideal for task lighting in office and home environments, and are also used to alleviate the effects of S.A.D. (Seasonal Affective Disorder), also known as Winter Blues.